

GUIDED HIKE TO THE SALTEN WITH JOSEF

The Salten is a typical low mountain range, gently undulating and with expansive, open larch meadows that have been tended and cultivated by farmers for centuries. In autumn, the larches turn golden yellow and the sun casts its warming rays onto the open meadows. We start our hike in the mountain village of Mölten/Jenesien at approx. 1,200 m, first hiking uphill through the forest to the Gschnofer Stall snack station with a possible first refreshment stop; then on through the gentle meadow landscape to the detached Langfenn farmstead with inn and Romanesque church of St. Jakob. Here we stop for lunch. Well fortified, we hike back to Mölten/Jenesien via farm tracks. In Mölten we can visit the Arunda sparkling wine cellar; it is the highest sparkling wine cellar in Europe and the largest producer in South Tyrol. Depending on the schedule and interest of the participants, a visit with tasting can be organized at short notice.
